

Family allowance / family recreation allowance

Every two years, low-income families from Bremen can submit an application to the Daniel Schnakenberg Foundation for a subsidy for a recreational measure .

Competent Department

- Senatorin für Arbeit, Soziales, Jugend und Integration | Referat Bürgerschaftliches Engagement, Familienförderung und -politik und LSBTIQ*

Contact Person

- Schütz, Sandra

Frau Sandra Schütz

Sachbearbeitung Familienpolitik und Familienförderung

+49 421 361 2338

+49 421 496 2338

E-mail

Basic information

The Bremen Daniel Schnakenberg Foundation promotes the participation of Bremen families, children and young people in family camps run by non-profit organisations.

Requirements

To be promoted:

- Families with at least one child (up to the age of 17)
- Single parents with at least one child (up to the age of 17), who take part in family camps run by non-profit organisations or in a recreational measure in a recognised family holiday centre in Germany. The recovery measures may not exceed 21 days and may not be split in the calendar year.

Grants for family recreation can only be awarded within the limits of the funds available.

Procedure

The total income of the family or of the applicant is determined by means of the application form and the relevant supporting documents. The amount of the allowance is calculated on the basis of net income. The calculation is made within the limits of the family income eligible for the allowance, in accordance with the calculation table.

The maximum subsidy is 15 Euro per day and person.

More information

Applications should be submitted directly to:

ServiceBureau Jugendinformation
Daniel-Schnakenberg-Stiftung
Gaby Benckert
Grünenstr. 7
28199 Bremen

Tel: 0421 - 33 00 89 11
Fax: 0421 - 33 00 89 22
gaby.benckert@jugendinfo.de

Families from Bremerhaven do not receive a subsidy, because the magistrate of the city of Bremerhaven does not grant a subsidy for family recreation.