Basic information

Registration certificates are generally subject to a fee.

However, in certain individual cases (e.g. if you are receiving benefits under SGB II or SGB XII or if you have a specific purpose), a fee waiver may be granted upon request. Please provide appropriate evidence.

For pension purposes, especially with an institution abroad, a certificate of registration can be issued, which is valid as a certificate of living.

For child benefits, a registration certificate can be issued which, in addition to personal data, includes information about the children who are registered at the same address as the applicant (so-called household certificate). Please bring the form you received from the child benefit office.
